

Two Cows Killed By Wolves In Oregon

A concerned resident comments, “This is what the wolf advocates are responsible for in NE Oregon. They are inhumane and I believe criminal!!!! They fed on the one cow while she was alive, drug twin calves out of her and scattered them a ways away. Investigators verify at least 7 wolves were potentially involved. USFW says the ranchers in the area “have not done enough preventative measures to allow them to take lethal measures against the wolves”. What they did last season doesn’t count even though USFW had issued an order for Wildlife Services to kill 2 wolves which never happened. They have buried bone piles and hired riders all summer. Now they are doing the other useless things invented by the wolf advocates for the purpose of keeping offending wolves alive a little bit longer and costing ranchers thousands.”

“How did it come about that we have to ask government permission to protect our property??”
