

WOLF FREE OREGON

Taxpayers Taking Charge of the Canadian Grey Wolf Problems

Editorial News/Press Release

April 3, 2011

Clearing the Waters of the Wolf Wars

On Tuesday, April 5, 2011 at High Noon on the West steps of the Oregon State Capitol, Wolf Free Oregon, Mothers Against Wolves, Blue Mt. Archers and Save Oregon Elk will hold a protest rally for the removal of the Canadian Grey Wolf from Oregon, carrying this message loud and clean will be "Bullhorns and Mothers," a group of ten mothers armed with bullhorns who ask "Can You Hear Us Now!" They will be supported by their cheering section of two chartered bus loads of passionate taxpayers from Eastern Oregon and sportsmen from Western Oregon. The Northern Rockies Wolf Recovery Project has been plagued with ongoing accusation of relying on manipulated science to dump a non-indigenous wolf into the region; outright lies to camouflage the devastation wolves would deal other wildlife population and the livestock industry.

The wolf issue has become an environmental version of the television game show "Deal or No Deal." A short press conference will be held at 12 noon on the West steps prior to the start of the protest.